

Open Call for Ceramic Art Instructors

PoMoArts is seeking qualified Ceramics Wheel and Hand Building Instructors who are passionate about teaching and working with clay to join our team!

Housed in the historic Old City Hall and Appleyard House buildings in the heart of Port Moody, PoMoArts is a cultural hub for arts and education. With a mission to promote participation in the arts, we offer a full range of visual, ceramic, theatre, music, and media arts programming for people of all ages and experience levels to explore their creativity. Our small class sizes and inclusive environment give students the opportunity to receive individual instruction from talented instructors, where they are encouraged to learn and develop an appreciation of the arts.

Visit pomoarts.ca for more details.

We are seeking proposals from creative, experimental ceramic artists to develop and instruct hand building and/or wheel programs for children and teens. Applicants must have a Fine Arts degree with a concentration in Ceramics or equivalent training and experience, as well as the proven ability to design, plan, and deliver ceramic arts programs.

As a Ceramics Instructor, you will bring a high level of skill and enthusiasm to a range of classes, including technical and creative classes for teens, as well as fun and imaginative classes for children. You should be open to new ideas and be able to develop inspiring projects that will keep our returning students engaged.

Employment offers are conditional upon receipt of a Criminal Record Check with a Vulnerable Sector Check that is acceptable to PoMoArts.

Pay will be commensurate with education and previous teaching experience.

Applications will be considered on an ongoing basis. Please submit your cover letter and resume to jobs@pomoarts.ca.

Thank you for your interest in PoMoArts!
